Review of International Travel

The format for the monthly publication on international travel in 1970 has been changed to provide the users with a more comprehensive coverage of the movements of travellers between Canada and other countries. Total numbers of United States visitors entering Canada and residents returning from the United States are presented by type of transportation and province of entry. This represents an extension in the area of automobile traffic where only numbers of vehicles were published in previous monthly reports. The number of pleasure craft and persons entering Canada are shown by intended length of stay and province of entry. Visitors and Canadians returning from overseas countries will be presented by province. Current trends in international travel and the analysis of monthly data will be highlighted in this review. A general description of definitions and the method of compiling data on international travel appear in the annual publication, "Travel Between Canada And Other Countries, 1967". (DBS Catalogue No. 66-201).

International travel between Canada and other countries increased generally during 1969. This growth was probably in part associated with the continued rise in levels of economic activity and personal incomes in the principal nations of the world in recent years. Although additional factors such as the increasing importance of chartered flights and other forms of cheaper travel through "package tours" promoted by tour operators also induced increased travel, with students, young people, and lower income groups travelling more than previously. Part of the higher level of travellers expenditures was undoubtedly a result of rising prices in many of the major tourist centres of the world.

Currency restrictions ($130) imposed in 1966 on travel to other countries by residents of the United Kingdom were eased at the beginning of this year to allow each member of a family to spend up to $780 per year. This action is expected to have an impact on the numbers and spending patterns of United Kingdom residents abroad during 1970.

Travel between Canada and the United States

The flow of travel between Canada and the United States in January 1970 was higher by 12 per cent than in the same month of the previous year. Visitors from the United States numbered 1.6 million, a 9 per cent increase, while Canadians returning totalled 2.0 million in January 1970, an increase of 14 per cent above last year.

Automobile continued to be the principle mode of transportation into Canada carrying 1.3 million or more than 85 per cent of the total United States travellers to Canada. Of these entries just under a quarter of a million remained for one or more nights in Canada, higher by 24 per cent over the same month a year earlier. Automobile traffic entering and leaving same day increased by 85,900 persons or was about 8 per cent higher than January 1969. The number of United States visitors entering Canada by plane in January 1970 totalled 78,700, an increase of 9 per cent above the same period last year.

Canadians re-entering from the United States by automobile formed over 80 per cent or 1.6 million of the total persons re-entering in January 1970. About 0.3 million of this number were long-term travellers, up 19 per cent from the same month last year. The largest numerical increase in Canadian re-entries was shown in the automobile traffic entering and leaving the same day, up 189,600 persons or 17 per cent above January 1969. Canadian residents re-entering from the United States by plane totalled 112,400, an increase of 13 per cent over the same month last year.

Travel Between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors entering Canada in January 1970 numbered about 14,700, a gain of 25 per cent over the same period in 1969. The returns recorded increases in the numbers of visitors from most countries, especially the United Kingdom, Australia, France, Germany and Italy, when compared with January 1969. As noted above, the relaxing of currency restrictions imposed on residents of the United Kingdom travelling abroad may have an impact on the volume of United Kingdom residents travelling to Canada during 1970, although the full impact of these may not be apparent until later in the year.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries numbered 79,600 in January 1970, an increase of 81 per cent over the same month in 1969. A very high proportion of the number returning in January represented travellers by air when about three quarters of the total re-entries occurred at Montreal and Toronto airports.

Review of International Travel

During the first two months of 1970 cumulative statistics show that both the number of United States visitors to Canada and Canadian residents returning from trips to the United States were about 8 per cent above the same period in 1969. Overseas visitors entering Canada during January and February 1970 increased by 31 per cent above last year while Canadians returning direct from overseas countries were 60 per cent above the figure registered during the first two months of 1969.

Travel between Canada and the United States

In February, 1970, visitors entering Canada from the United States numbered 1,564,300 while Canadians returning totalled 1,905,700; this represented increases of 5.9 and 2.0 per cent respectively over the same month last year. Because of the decision in the United States to observe certain national holidays on days immediately preceding or following weekends, February contained a long weekend in celebration of "George Washington's birthday". This may have had an impact on the number of travellers remaining one or more nights in Canada during the month of February. Total vehicle crossings between Canada and the United States numbered 1,412,100, an increase of 3.7 per cent above February, 1969. Of this number 645,700 were non-resident vehicles entering Canada and 766,400 were Canadian vehicles returning from trips to the United States, increases of 5.1 and 2.6 per cent respectively.

United States travellers to Canada by automobile, some 1,349,700 travellers, was 6.4 per cent above the same month a year earlier. About 239,600 of these entries remained for one or more nights registering an increase of 14.2 per cent above February, 1969. Short-term travellers numbered 1,110,100, an increase of 4.8 per cent above last year. United States travellers entering Canada by non-automobile transportation totalled 214,600, an increase of 3.2 per cent above February of last year. Plane travellers accounted for about 34 per cent of this total carrying some 72,700 United States travellers to Canada, an increase of 30 per cent above the same month last year.

In February, 1970, about 82 per cent or 1,567,100 of the Canadians returning from the United States re-entered by automobile, 2 per cent above the same month a year earlier. Of these re-entries, 243,500 remained one or more nights in the United States, an increase of 9.8 per cent above the same period last year. Short-term traffic totalled 1,323,600 travellers, an increase of 0.7 per cent above last year. Canadians returning from the United States by non-automobile transportation numbered 338,600, an increase of 1.8 per cent above the same month a year earlier. Plane travel attracted about 24 per cent of this total when some 81,700 Canadians returned by plane, a decrease of 3.7 per cent below February, 1969.

Travel between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors entering Canada during February, 1970, numbered about 15,500, an increase of 38 per cent above the same month last year. The ten leading countries in terms of visitors to Canada during February were the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Japan, Italy, Australia, Greece, The Netherlands, Jamaica, and Switzerland. Commencing this year statistics of overseas visitors entering Canada are published by province of entry. During the month of February 1970, province of entry data shows the following distribution of overseas visitors entering through provincial ports: Atlantic region, 3 per cent; Quebec, 44; Ontario, 37; the Prairie Provinces, 3; and British Columbia, 13 per cent.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in February, 1970, numbered 51,800, an increase of about 38 per cent above the same month last year. The majority of Canadians returned by plane, landing at the major airports of Montreal and Toronto.

Commencing March 1, 1970, Japanese exchange controls will be eased to permit the limit on the automatically approved allowance for tourism to be raised from $700 to $1,000 a person for each trip.

Review of International Travel

During the first quarter of 1970 preliminary estimates of travel expenditures reveal that Canada remained in a deficit position on travel account with all countries, (Refer to table 15, page 23). Foreign visitors spent an estimated $107 million in Canada, made up of $91 million from United States travellers and $16 million from overseas visitors; total receipts advanced by 19 per cent above 1969. Canadians made payments of $299 million in travel expenditures abroad, $213 million in the United States and $86 million in overseas countries; total payments advanced by 15 per cent above the comparable period for 1969. The net result of these transactions was a deficit of $192 million on travel account between Canada and all countries, increasing the deficit by $22 million above the first quarter of 1969. The fact that Easter fell in the first quarter this year was expected to have an impact on travel patterns and partly explains the higher travel expenditures over the same period last year; in 1969 Easter fell in the second quarter of the year.

It appears that any increase in payments by Canadians to the United States have been largely offset by expenditures by United States travellers in Canada; the deficit between Canada and the United States advanced slightly rising by $2 million. Payments to overseas countries by Canadian residents increased faster than receipts from abroad and the total deficit between Canada and overseas countries advanced by $20 million above last year. It is evident that the increase in the deficit can be chiefly attributed to increased travel by Canadian residents to overseas countries. The increasing importance of charter flights and special excursions abroad tend to induce increased travel, particularly with students, young people and lower income groups travelling more than in the past.

Travel between Canada and the United States

During the first quarter of 1970 cumulative statistics show that the number of United States visitors to Canada increased by 9 per cent, while Canadian residents returning from trips to the United States were 8 per cent above the first quarter for 1969. In March 1970, visitors entering Canada from the United States numbered 1,956,600 while Canadians returning totalled 2,714,100 representing increases of 11.5 and 8.3 per cent respectively above the same month a year earlier.

United States travellers to Canada by automobile, some 1,711,500 persons was 13.1 per cent above March 1969. About 371,100 of these entries remained one or more nights, up 37.3 per cent above last year, short-term travellers at 1,340,400 increased by about 8 per cent above March 1969. United States travellers entering Canada by non-automobile transportation totalled 245,000 an increase of 1.4 per cent above last year. Plane travel attracted some 31.5 per cent of this total, carrying 77,100 United States travellers to Canada, up some 2 per cent from last year.

In March 1970, some 2,284,000 or 84 per cent of the total Canadians returning from the United States re-entered by automobile, 9.4 per cent above last year. Of these re-entries 544,800 remained one or more nights in the United States an increase of 44.8 per cent above the same month last year. Short-term traffic, 1,739,200 travellers, increased by 1.6 per cent above March 1969. Canadians returning from the United States by non-automobile transportation numbered 430,100, up 2.6 per cent from the comparable period of a year earlier. Plane travel attracted 28.5 per cent of this total when some 122,400 Canadians returned by plane, a decrease of 2.5 per cent from March 1969.

Travel between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors entering Canada during the first quarter of 1970 increased by some 34 per cent, while Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries were 49 per cent above the first quarter of 1969. During March 1970, about 22,800 overseas visitors entered Canada, an increase of 37.2 per cent above the same month a year earlier. Commencing March 2, 1970 Israel reduced its foreign travel allowance from $375 to $250 per resident per trip, but the effect of this control measure may not be evident until subsequent months. Province of entry data for March 1970 shows the following distribution of overseas visitors entering through provincial ports: Atlantic Provinces, 3 per cent; Quebec, 40; Ontario, 41; the Prairie Provinces, 3; and British Columbia, 13 per cent.

Canadian residents returning direct from Overseas countries in March 1970, numbered 70,300 an increase of 31.1 per cent above the same month last year. With the opening of "Expo 70" in Osaka, Japan on March 13, 1970 Canadian visits to that area are likely to be stimulated but the full impact will not be known until later in the year. The majority of Canadians, some 85 per cent, re-entered at the major airports of Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver.

Review of International Travel

During the period January - April 1970 cumulative statistics show that the number of United States visitors to Canada increased by 5.4 per cent while Canadian residents returning from trips to the United States were 3.1 per cent above the comparable period for 1969. Overseas visitors entering Canada during the first four months of 1970 increased by 28.4 per cent above the previous year while Canadians returning direct from overseas countries were 55 per cent above the similar period for 1969.

Travel between Canada and the United States

In April 1970, visitors entering Canada from the United States numbered 1,979,500 while Canadian residents returning from the United States totalled 2,483,600, this represents decreases of 3.0 and 8.1 per cent respectively when compared to April 1969. A partial explanation of the decrease in the number of persons travelling in April 1970 is due to the fact that Easter fell in March this year, and as such had an impact on travel patterns when compared with last year.

Total vehicle crossings between Canada and the United States numbered 1,741,900, a decrease of 4.4 per cent above the same month last year. Of this number 788,400 were non-resident vehicles entering Canada and 953,500 were Canadian vehicles returning from trips to the United States, decreases of 2.3 and 6.2 per cent respectively.

United States travellers to Canada by automobile some 1,712,800 persons was 4.3 per cent below April 1969. About 358,500 of these entries remained for one or more nights, a decrease of 6.2 per cent from the previous year. Short-term travellers numbered 1,354,300, a decrease of 3.7 per cent below April 1969. United States travellers entering Canada by non-automobile transportation totalled 266,700 an increase of 6.1 per cent above last year. Plane travellers numbered 86,600 registering an increase of 15.2 per cent from the previous year.

In April 1970, some 2,092,400 Canadian residents returning from the United States re-entered by automobile, a decrease of 8.9 per cent below the same month a year earlier. Of these re-entries 407,800 persons remained for one or more nights in the United States, a decrease of 14.2 per cent from the previous year. Short-term travellers numbered 1,684,600, a decrease of 7.4 per cent below April 1969. Canadian residents returning from the United States by non-automobile transportation totalled 391,200 persons, a decrease of 3.8 per cent when compared with April 1969. Plane travellers numbered 114,900 persons, an increase of 2.1 per cent above the same month last year.

Travel between Canada and Overseas Countries

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in April 1970, numbered 74,300 persons an increase of 31,600 compared to the previous year.

Overseas visitors entering Canada during April 1970, numbered 29,900 an increase of 20.0 per cent above the same month a year earlier. The ten leading overseas countries in terms of visitors to Canada during the period January to April 1970 were the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Japan, Italy, Australia, The Netherlands, Greece, Jamaica and Mexico.

During the month of April 1970 province of entry data shows the following distribution of overseas visitors entering through provincial ports: Atlantic Provinces, 2.1 per cent; Quebec, 40.1; Ontario, 40.4; Prairie Provinces 3.3 and British Columbia 14.1 per cent.

Review of International Travel

During the first five months of 1970 cumulative statistics show that the number of United States visitors to Canada increased by 4.4 per cent while Canadian residents returning from trips to the United States were 2.8 per cent above the same period in 1969. Overseas visitors entering Canada during the period January to May 1970 increased by 24.1 per cent above the same period a year earlier while Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries were 49.3 per cent above the comparable period for 1969. The relative changes in overseas visits, are of course, based on much smaller absolute numbers.

Travel between Canada and the United States

In May 1970, visitors entering Canada from the United States numbered 2,996,800 while Canadian residents returning from the United States totaled 3,137,900, this represents increases of 2.1 and 1.9 per cent, respectively, when compared to May 1969.

Total vehicle crossings between Canada and the United States numbered 2,270,300, an increase of 1.5 per cent above the same month last year. Of this number 1,108,500, were non-resident vehicles entering Canada and 1,161,700 were Canadian vehicles returning from trips to the United States, increases of 1.7 and 1.3 per cent, respectively.

United States travellers to Canada by automobile, some 2,575,600 persons, was 1.5 per cent above May 1969. About 780,100 of these entries remained for one or more nights and another 1,795,500 entered and left on the same day, increases of 1.5 and 1.6 per cent, respectively. United States travellers entering Canada by non-automobile transportation numbered 421,300 an increase of 5.5 per cent from May 1969. Plane travellers covered in the above figure numbered 117,400, an increase of 17.9 per cent above the same month a year earlier.

In May 1970, some 2,702,000 Canadian residents returning from the United States re-entered by automobile an increase of 1.8 per cent above the same month last year. Of these re-entries 564,000 persons remained for one or more nights in the United States and another 2,138,000 entered and left on the same day, increases of 8.5 and 0.2 per cent, respectively when compared to the corresponding period in 1969. Canadian residents returning from the United States by non-automobile transportation numbered 435,900 persons, an increase of 2.1 per cent above the same month in the previous year. Plane travellers numbered 108,300 an increase of 18.7 per cent above the figure recorded in May 1969.

Travel between Canada and Overseas Countries

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in May 1970 numbered 57,600 persons an increase of 26.4 per cent compared to the same month in 1969.

Overseas visitors entering Canada during May 1970, numbered 49,600 an increase of 17.5 per cent above May 1969. Province of entry data for overseas visitors for May 1970 shows the following distribution through provincial ports: Atlantic Provinces, 1.7 per cent; Quebec, 35.5; Ontario, 47.1; the Prairie Provinces, 4.1; and British Columbia, 11.6 per cent.

The ten leading countries in terms of overseas visitors to Canada during May 1970 were: the United Kingdom, Germany, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Australia, Japan, Mexico, Jamaica, and India. There were some shifts in the ranking of the countries most notably Japan which ranked fourth in May 1969 declined to the seventh position in May 1970; this may be explained by the fact that "Expo 70" is being held in Japan this year, and as such, fewer Japanese residents were travelling abroad during the month of May. On the other hand, Italy which ranked eighth in May 1969 moved up to fifth position in 1970.

Review of International Travel

Preliminary estimates of travel expenditures for the first six months of 1970 reveal that the deficit position on travel account with all countries remained at the same level as in the first half of 1969, with both receipts and payments rising substantially. (See table 15, page 23). Foreign visitors spent an estimated $399 million in Canada made up of $341 million from United States travellers and $58 million from overseas visitors to register an almost 19 per cent increase over the comparable period for 1969; Canadians made payments of $672 million in travel expenditures abroad comprised of $459 million in the United States and $213 million in overseas countries for an increase of more than 10 per cent. As noted above the net result of these transactions was to leave the deficit balance of $273 million on travel account between Canada and all countries unchanged from the comparable period in 1969.

Canadian payments to the United States increased modestly by $5 million while travel expenditures in Canada by United States travellers advanced by $47 million, narrowing the deficit on travel account between Canada and the United States to $118 million from $160 million in the first six months of 1969. Payments to overseas countries by Canadian residents increased faster than receipts from abroad and the total deficit between Canada and overseas countries widened to $155 million.

On May 31st the Minister of Finance announced the unpegging of the Canadian dollar from its parity of 92.5 U.S. cents. The subsequent revaluation of the Canadian dollar on the foreign exchange market is however unlikely to have had a significant affect on the patterns of travel and expenditures in the period covered by this report. Further easing of exchange controls on travellers allowances by the United Kingdom, France and Japan were announced during the first half of 1970.

Travel between Canada and the United States

Cumulative statistics show that during the first six months of 1970 the number of United States visitors to Canada increased by 4.2 per cent, while Canadians returning from trips to the United States were 1.4 per cent above the comparable period in 1969.

In June 1970 the number of visitors entering Canada from the United States totalled 4,130,000 while Canadians returning numbered 3,416,100 representing an increase of 3.7 per cent for United States visitors to Canada and a decrease of 3.3 per cent in the number of Canadian residents returning from the United States.

United States travellers to Canada by automobile, some 3,463,600 persons was 1.9 per cent above June 1969. More than one third of these entries remained for one or more nights, an increase of 4.7 per cent above the same month a year earlier; short-term travellers at 2,166,200 persons were little changed from June 1969. United States travellers entering Canada by non-automobile transportation numbered 666,400 an increase of 14.2 per cent above the same month last year. Plane travel accounted for just under one quarter of the non-automobile group. Bus travel showed the largest gains in June increasing by 25 per cent above the same month in 1969.

In June 1970, some 2,926,500 Canadians returning from the United States re-entered by automobile representing a 2.7 per cent decrease from the figure recorded in June 1969; of these, 610,800 had remained in the United States for one or more nights, a decrease of 5.4 per cent when compared with June 1969, and 2,315,700 travellers returned on the same day, a decrease of 2.0 per cent from the same month last year. Canadians returning from the United States by non-automobile transportation numbered 489,700, a decrease of 6.8 per cent from June 1969. Plane travel accounted for about one fifth of the non-automobile travellers, carrying some 97,000 Canadians returning from trips to the United States, a decrease of 12.9 per cent below June 1969.

Travel between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors entering Canada during the first six months of 1970 increased by some 23 per cent, while Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries were 39 per cent above the comparable period in 1969.

In June 1970, the number of overseas visitors entering Canada totalled 72,200 an increase of 21.7 per cent above June 1969. Province of entry data for June shows the following distribution of overseas visitors entering through provincial ports: Atlantic Provinces, 2.1 per cent; Quebec, 32.0; Ontario, 44.5; the Prairie Provinces, 6.8; and British Columbia, 14.6 per cent.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in June 1970, numbered 66,600 an increase of 3.1 per cent above the same month last year. The majority of Canadians, 95.9 per cent, returned by plane; Montreal and Toronto together accounted for more than half of the total plane re-entries.

Review of International Travel

During the first eight months of 1970 cumulative statistics indicate that the number of United States residents who visited Canada increased by 808,900 persons versus 1969 to reach 27,534,000 persons, an increase of 3.0 per cent. Canadian residents returning from the United States increased by 347,900 persons versus 1969 to reach 25,687,700 persons, an increase over 1969 of only 1.4 per cent. A portion of the increase (particularly in U.S. visits to Canada) may be due to the inauguration of "The Prince of Fundy" ferry service between Portland, Maine and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia in June, 1970 as port of entry figures for Nova Scotia show a significant increase during July and August, 1970 over the same months last year.

Overseas residents entering Canada for the period January - August, 1970 increased by 16.9 per cent while Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries increased by 39.4 per cent.

Travel Between Canada and the United States

In the month of August 1970, the number of United States residents entering Canada was 6,765,300; the number of Canadians returning from the United States for the same period totalled 5,024,000. Both figures closely approximated the similar period in 1969.

The number of vehicles entering Canada during the month amounted to 3,798,300, representing a minor decrease of 4,700 vehicles entering the country versus the same period last year. Non-resident vehicles entering Canada accounted for 56.3 per cent (2,138,700 vehicles) of the total, while Canadian vehicles returning to Canada accounted for 43.7 per cent (1,659,600 vehicles) of the total.

United States travellers to Canada by automobile numbering 5,821,000 persons, decreased 1.3 per cent in relationship to August, 1969. Of this total 3,156,900 persons entered and left Canada on the same day, while 2,664,100 persons stayed in Canada for one or more nights. United States travellers entering Canada by transportation other than automobile totalled 944,300 an increase of 5.4 per cent over the same month last year. Plane and bus travellers accounted for 358,300 persons, an increase of 20.4 per cent and 23.7 per cent respectively. Part of the decrease in United States visits to Canada by automobile may be due to the date on which Labour Day was observed. In 1969 Labour Day fell on September 1st, consequently many trips associated with the holiday entered Canada in August, whereas in 1970 with Labour Day falling on September 7th the holiday traffic was recorded in September.

In August 1970, 5,024,000 Canadian residents returned from the United States of which 4,498,800 persons re-entered Canada by automobile. Of those returning by automobile 2,894,200 persons left Canada and returned the same day while 1,604,600 stayed in the United States for one night or more. Canadian residents returning from the United States by non-automobile transportation amounted to 525,200 persons, a decrease of 4.0 per cent for the same period last year.

Travel Between Canada and Overseas Countries

Canadian residents returning directly to Canada from overseas countries in August 1970, numbered 162,502 an increase of 23.5 per cent as compared to the similar month in 1969.

Overseas visitors entering Canada during August 1970, totalled 80,872, an increase of 11.9 per cent as compared to the same period in 1969. Province of entry data for visiting residents of overseas countries show the following distribution: Atlantic Provinces 2.2 per cent, Quebec 34.3 per cent, Ontario 46.4 per cent, Prairie Provinces 4.0 per cent, and British Columbia 13.1 per cent. There has been no significant change in this distribution pattern during 1970. The ten leading nations in terms of overseas visitors to Canada for August 1970, were as follows: The United Kingdom, France, Germany, Japan, The Netherlands, Italy, Australia, Mexico, Jamaica, and Trinidad & Tobago. The Netherlands advanced from seventh to fifth position as the number of visitors from that country to Canada increased by nearly 60 per cent versus the same period last year. Australia, on the other hand, dropped from fifth to seventh position in order of importance as a source of overseas visitors to Canada.

Review of International Travel

Estimates of travel expenditures for the first nine months of 1970 indicate Canada continued to record a favourable position on balance with the United States. Canada attained a surplus of $141 million, up $84 million over the surplus in the same period in 1969 (+ 147 per cent). Canada's position with overseas countries on travel account has traditionally been unfavourable, and this year is no exception, with a recorded deficit of $325 million with overseas countries (+ 44 per cent higher than last year). The overall travel account balance with the United States and overseas countries was a deficit of $184 million.

Canadian payments on travel to the United States during January - September this year at $783 million show a moderate increase of $16 million but receipts from United States visitors travelling in Canada have risen by $100 million to reach $924 million, up 12 per cent over the similar period of last year. Canadian payments to overseas countries on travel account rose by $123 million (39 per cent) over the period January - September. Receipts from overseas visitors, on the other hand, advanced at a more moderate rate (25 per cent) to $116 million as compared with $93 million in the same period of 1969.

Travel Between Canada and the United States

Cumulative statistics for the first nine months of 1970 indicate the number of United States visitors to Canada increased by 4.7 per cent, whereas Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States advanced by only 1.6 per cent over the same time period.

In September 1970 the number of United States residents entering Canada totalled 3,540,200, 19.7 per cent higher than the same period last year, while the number of crossings by Canadians returning from the United States reached 3,069,600 or 3.1 per cent higher than last year. A portion of the increase in visitors is attributable to the fact that Labour Day occurred on September 7th, 1970 as compared with September 1st, 1969. The incoming U.S. holiday traffic was largely recorded in September 1970, while in 1969 most of the visitor traffic for the Labour Day holiday was recorded on August 30-31.

United States residents numbering 3,052,500 entered Canada mainly by automobile, and the majority of these returned to the United States on the same day. Visitors entering by non-automobile means of transportation numbered 487,800 or 13.8 per cent of all U.S. visitors to Canada. Bus travel increased by 85.8 per cent in September 1970 to 107,700 visits, accounting for 22 per cent of all U.S. non-automobile traffic to Canada.

During the month some 2,660,500 Canadians returned from the United States by automobile, up 4.8 per cent over September 1969. Those returning by automobile after an absence of two or more nights increased by 85,100 to a total of 605,200 visits. Re-entries by non-automobile transportation amounted to 409,100 a decrease of 30,300 visits or 6.9 per cent compared to the same period of last year. Plane travel accounted for approximately 25 per cent of all non-automobile traffic or 98,800 visits, down 9.2 per cent from September 1969.

Travel Between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors to Canada for the period January - September 1970 increased by 16.2 per cent, while Canadian residents visiting overseas countries increased by 38.4 per cent over the same time period of 1969.

In the month of September 1970 there were 57,300 entries to Canada by overseas visitors, an increase of 11.6 per cent over last year. Data for September 1970 shows the following percentage distribution of overseas visitors by province of entry: Atlantic Provinces 1.9, Quebec 35.8, Ontario 49.3, Western Provinces 2.9, British Columbia and Yukon Territory 10.1 per cent. A distribution of overseas visitors to Canada for the month of September 1970 by continent of origin discloses the following: Europe 65.9 per cent, Asia 11.8, North America and Caribbean 11.0, Oceania 4.8, South America 4.5, and Africa 2.0 per cent.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in September 1970 numbered 121,800, an increase of 32.8 per cent above September 1969. Re-entries of Canadians returning from overseas was heaviest at Montreal International Airport, accounting for between 44 and 45 per cent of the total for Canada. Cumulative data for the period of January - September show a total of 823,800 re-entries direct from overseas versus 595,400 in 1969, an increase of 228,400 or some 38 per cent.

Review of International Travel

During the period January - October of the year, 33.6 million United States residents visited Canada while 31.5 million Canadian residents returned from visits to the United States. This represents increases of 4.7 per cent for the former group and 1.4 per cent for the latter.

The strike by employees of General Motors Corporation beginning in September and continuing into October may have some effect on same day traffic flows between border communities. Lower numbers can also be expected in rail traffic as Penn - Central Railway ceased discharging and boarding passengers in Canada.

The number of overseas visitors entering Canada continues to show increases with entries totalling 484,800 during January - October 1970. Although the rate of increase in Canadian travel overseas diminished in October, direct re-entries for the ten month period advanced by 36 per cent compared with the same interval in 1969.

Travel between Canada and the United States

In October 1970, United States residents entering Canada numbered 2,499,600, between 4 to 5 per cent higher than the same month in 1969. Visits by Canadian residents to the United States amounted to 2,778,500 slightly less than October 1969.

The automobile as usual carried the great majority of travellers 2,193,000 United States visitors and 2,390,300 returning residents. The number of trips by United States residents entering and leaving the same day by automobile increased by about 2 per cent (28,600) while on the other hand the return flow of Canadians in this category declined by 2 per cent or 35,500 persons.

Continued increases in plane, bus and boat traffic offset declines in rail and "other travellers" and brought non-automobile entries to 306,600 in October 1970, about 5 per cent higher than the same month in 1969. The lower number of "other travellers" which includes local bus traffic led to a 6 per cent decline in Canadians returning by non-automobile transportation.

Travel between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors entering Canada during October 1970 totalled 37,000, an increase of 18.3 per cent over the same month in 1969. As the winter months approach travel to Canada gradually deteriorates; August recorded 81,000 entries and September 57,000 arrivals from overseas countries. Seven countries showed numbers more than 1,000 in October 1970. Of these the United Kingdom led with 8,492 followed by Germany, France and Japan with 2,798, 2,395 and 2,174 arrivals, respectively. The remaining three countries were Australia, Italy and The Netherlands.

Canadian residents returning directly to Canada in October 1970 numbered 64,300, some 5,200 or 8.8 per cent more than October the previous year. Improved statistical reporting at Trenton, Ontario has enabled the exclusion of a larger number of military personnel and dependents; therefore, lower figures can be expected in the months to come.

Review of International Travel

For the first eleven months of 1970 there has been 24,936,300 vehicle crossings and 69,154,100 person crossings at the various ports on the Canadian - U.S. border, compared with 24,343,800 vehicle crossings and 67,367,600 person crossings in 1969. Most of the increase over 1969 is due to an increase of United States visitors to Canada. The number of Canadians re-entering Canada from the United States increased by only 1.1 per cent over 1969.

Travel Between Canada and the United States

Cumulative statistics for the first eleven months of 1970 indicate that the number of United States visitors to Canada increased by 4.2 per cent to reach 35,465,000 visits. Canadian residents returning from the United States to date number 33,689,000.

In November 1970 the number of United States visitors entering Canada decreased by 75,400 over the same period in 1969 due mainly to a decrease in visitors entering and leaving the same day by automobile. The number of Canadian residents returning from the United States during November 1970 decreased by 69,000, off 3.1 per cent versus 1969. This decrease in both cases may be partially attributable to the continuation of the strike at all General Motor plants in Canada and the United States during November 1970. The number of visits from U.S. residents by non-automobile means totalled 236,300 or 12.5 per cent of all visits to Canada, up 0.7 per cent over 1969. Plane travel by U.S. residents increased 10.4 per cent versus 1969 to reach 81,400 visits. Rail travel again decreased in November in a year-to-year comparison due to the ceasing of operations by the Penn-Central Railway in Canada.

Visits by Canadians to the United States by non-automobile means decreased 6.2 per cent to total 328,500. The largest decrease occurred in "other non-automobile" category (local bus, taxi, motorcycle, commercial truck, etc.) off by 20,500 visits.

The number of vehicles entering Canada during November 1970 totalled 1,606,500, a decrease of 55,200 vehicles from the same period last year. Of the total, 53 per cent or 853,700 vehicles were registered as Canadian, while 47 per cent were non-resident vehicles entering Canada. Approximately 58 per cent of all vehicles entered or re-entered Canada through the Province of Ontario.

Travel Between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors to Canada during January - November 1970 numbered 507,600, an increase of 15.9 per cent over 1969. Approximately seventy per cent of all overseas visitors to Canada during 1970 resided in European countries.

In the month of November 1970 there were 22,800 visitors to Canada from overseas countries, up 6.8 per cent versus 1969. A breakdown of overseas visitors by province of entry for November 1970 reveals the following percentage distribution: Atlantic Provinces 2.5, Quebec 43.9, Ontario 39.1, Western Provinces 2.9, British Columbia and the Yukon 11.6. The leading nations in terms of overseas visitors for the month in order of rank were: the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Japan and Poland.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries during November 1970 numbered 30,400, down 25.4 per cent versus the same period in 1969. More complete data reported by Trenton airport permitted the exclusion of Canadian Armed Forces personnel and dependents returning from overseas in November 1970; the non-comparability of data between November 1969 and November 1970 accounted for just over 5 per cent of the above decrease. Cumulative statistics indicate that 918,500 Canadian residents returned direct from overseas countries, up 32.1 per cent over 1969. The majority of the increase in Canadians travelling overseas returned via the Province of Quebec.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OTHER COUNTRIES

Preliminary Estimates of Receipts and Expenditures, 1970

In 1970 Canada recorded a deficit on travel account with all other countries of the world for the third consecutive year. Estimates show that foreign visitors to Canada spent $1,219 million in 1970, while Canadians spent $1,454 million abroad. These figures include transportation costs paid to Canadian carriers by non-residents visiting Canada, and fares paid to foreign carriers by Canadians travelling abroad.

United States residents accounted for expenditures in Canada of $1,078 million, an increase of 12.2 per cent over 1969. Overseas visitors to Canada spent $141 million, an increase of 24.8 per cent over 1969. Most of this increase is attributable to higher spending by visitors from the United Kingdom and European O.E.C.D. Member Countries.

Canadian expenditures abroad increased by 12.5 per cent over 1969 to reach a record high for payments on travel account at $1,454 million. Canadians spent $930 million in the United States, an increase of 4.1 per cent over the year 1969 and, $524 million overseas in the following areas of the world: United Kingdom $192 million, Other Sterling Areas $67 million, O.E.C.D. Member Countries in Europe $200 million, and $65 million in other countries of the world. Canadian expenditures overseas in 1970 increased by 31.3 per cent.

On balance the Canadian surplus on travel account with the United States stood at $148 million, and increase of $80 million over 1969. The Canadian deficit on travel with overseas countries increased in 1970 by $97 million to reach $383 million. As a result, the deficit on travel account in 1970 increased to $235 million, due to the greater number and higher expenditures of Canadians travelling to overseas countries.

Quarterly estimates of both receipts and payments were higher in 1970 than in the previous year. Due to this rise in expenditures the deficit in the first and fourth quarters rose by $10 million and $1 million respectively. The second quarter showed an improvement of $10 million on balance, while the third quarter, which has traditionally shown a surplus, again showed a positive balance, but down by $16 million compared with 1969. This was the smallest surplus recorded in the third quarter in eight years, at $89 million.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

The number of United States residents entering Canada in December 1970 decreased by 36,000 persons due mainly to the smaller number of individuals who entered and left Canada by automobile on the same day. The number of persons from the United States travelling by automobile who remained two or more nights in Canada during December 1970 advanced by 14 per cent over 1969. Rail traffic into Canada again decreased for the nineteenth successive month, off by 4,300 persons or 35.7 per cent compared with the same period last year.

Cumulative statistics show that the number of United States residents who entered Canada during 1970 was 37,152,900, an increase of 3.9 per cent over 1969; this compares with an increase of 2.8 per cent increase in 1969 over 1968. The increase in 1970 was mainly accounted for by persons entering Canada by automobile and remaining two or more nights — up 805,300 persons or 10.2 per cent over 1969. Passengers by all modes of transportation from the United States showed increases during 1970 except rail and other travellers (includes local bus, taxi, motorcycle, and commercial truck traffic) which showed relatively minor declines. Automobile traffic accounted for 86.2 per cent of the total number of residents from the United States, while plane traffic accounted for 3.5 per cent, bus traffic 2.8 per cent, rail traffic 0.4 per cent, boat traffic 1.6 per cent, and other travellers 5.5 per cent.

A quarterly review of the volume of travellers from the United States during 1970 reveals that 13.7 per cent arrived in the first quarter or 5,082,600 persons, 24.5 per cent or 9,106,400 persons arrived in the second quarter, 45.4 per cent or 16,885,200 persons arrived in the third quarter, and 16.4 per cent or 6,078,800 persons arrived in the fourth quarter. The first, second, and third quarters of 1970 showed sizeable increases in visitors over 1969, while in the fourth quarter some decline was registered. Percentages show that United States visitors to Canada in 1970 increase by 9.0, 1.6, and 5.1 for the first three quarters of 1970 and remained unchanged during the fourth quarter.

On a provincial basis Quebec registered the largest increase in visitors from the United States, up 571,200 visits over 1969 to total 5,586,900 visits in 1970. In absolute numbers Ontario registered the most visitors from the United States at 21,763,800 — 58.6 per cent of all United States visitors.

The number of Canadians returning from the United States in December 1970 decreased by 149,000 persons from the same period last year, to amount to 1,966,600 visits, the third successive month that there has been a decline in Canadian visits to the United States. All types of transportation used by returning residents showed declines in December 1970 except bus travel, which increased by 6.3 per cent over December 1969.

Cumulative statistics indicate that the number of Canadian residents returning from the United States in 1970 increased by less than one per cent over 1969 to reach 35,655,900 visits. Canadians remaining two or more nights in the United States increased by 6.3 per cent in 1970 to account for 6,020,900 visits. Total automobile traffic to the United States this year accounted for 86.1 per cent of all travellers compared with 85.4 per cent last year. The largest decline occurred in rail transportation which was down 25.2 per cent on the year. All other forms of travel transportation declined slightly in 1970.

A quarterly review of returning Canadian travellers indicate that 18.6 per cent re-entered Canada during the first quarter, 25.3 per cent in the second, 36.8 per cent in the third, and 19.3 in the fourth. The first and third quarters showed increases of 491,100 and 227,400 persons respectively over 1969, while the second and fourth quarters declined by 278,600 and 225,700 persons respectively over 1969. The first and third quarters increased by 8.0 and 1.8 per cent respectively, while the second and fourth quarters declined by 3.0 and 3.2 per cent respectively.

British Columbia had the largest increase in the number of Canadians returning through ports in the province — up 9.6 per cent or 495,100 persons over 1969. Ontario registered the largest number of returning residents in 1970, at 13,932,900 persons (39 per cent of the total), but this showed a decline of 4.0 per cent from 1969.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

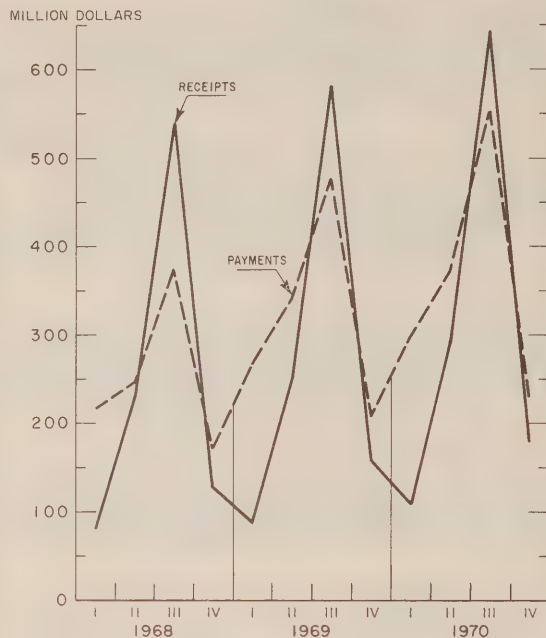

In 1970, the number of overseas visitors to Canada totalled 535,500, an increase of 72,300 visits over 1969 — up 15.6 per cent. The number of visitors to Canada from all continents increased, with Europe accounting for 368,200 visitors, 13.0 per cent above 1969.

The United Kingdom continued to account for more tourists to Canada than any other country with 157,700 persons, followed by Germany (West) with 41,300, France with 36,900, The Netherlands with 28,000, and Japan with 22,000. Only four countries of the world showed declines in the number of residents entering Canada versus 1969: Czechoslovakia declined by 1,000 visitors to total 1,400, Poland declined by 200 visitors to total 7,700, U.S.S.R. declined by 300 visitors to total 1,400, and China declined by 66 visitors to total 150.

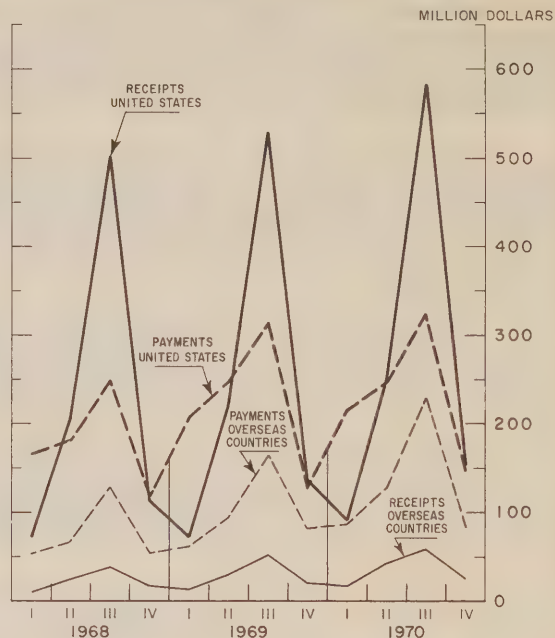

A quarterly review indicates that each quarter in 1970 showed increased traffic flows of overseas visitors to Canada. During the first quarter of 1970, 53,000 overseas visitors came to Canada, up 33.7 per cent over 1969, while 151,700 visitors came in the second quarter, up 20.0 per cent. In the third and fourth quarters of 1970 the number of visitors also increased, but not as dramatically as in the first two quarters of the year. Statistics indicate that visitors numbered 243,200 and 87,700 in the third and fourth quarters respectively, up 10.9 and 12.7 per cent over the same periods in 1969.

The number of Canadian residents returning directly to Canada from visits to overseas countries was 957,400 persons, an increase of 30.9 per cent over 1969; most Canadians returning from overseas visits arrived by air (97.2 per cent). Most Canadians re-entered the country from overseas visits through the Province of Ontario (403,600 persons) and the Province of Quebec (339,700 persons).

Review of International Travel

During the first month of 1971 there was a downward trend in travel between the United States and Canada compared with January of the previous year. This may have been partially due to the present slackness in the economies of both the United States and Canada, and the severe winter conditions experienced in Canada.

The overseas section of international travel however, remained buoyant as the number of Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries increased in January 1971, while overseas visitors to Canada increased nominally.

Travel Between Canada and the United States

United States residents entering Canada in 1971 number 1,555,700 a decline of 6,000 over the previous year. Of this amount 1,345,800 visitors entered Canada by automobile, and 82.8 per cent of these entered and left Canada on the same day. Non-automobile traffic decreased by 4.5 per cent in relation to 1970. The largest decrease occurred in rail traffic, off 35.3 per cent from January 1970 due mainly to the ceasing of operations of the Penn-Central Railway in Canada.

Canadian residents returning from the United States in January 1971 totalled 1,931,500 a decrease of 63,600 persons in relation to the same period in 1970. All types of transportation used by returning Canadian residents decreased except bus which increased by 5.7 per cent in 1971.

Travel Between Canada and Overseas Countries

Overseas visitors to Canada in 1971 number 15,000 an increase of 1.8 per cent above the same period in 1970. Visitors from Japan accounted for most of the increase, numbering 824, up 214 visitors versus January 1970 (35.1 per cent). The majority of overseas visitors entered Canada through the provinces of Quebec and Ontario; totalling 42.1 per cent and 37.3 per cent respectively of all visitors.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in January 1971 amounted to 83,500 persons, an increase of 4.9 per cent over 1970. Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa International airports all recorded significant increases in the volume of returning residents from overseas.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

The pattern established in January for travel between Canada and the United States continued into February with declines recorded for both Canadians returning from the United States and United States residents entering Canada. For the two month period compared with the same period in 1970, the declines were 4.6 per cent and 3.1 per cent respectively. Canadian residents returning from overseas visits rose appreciably in the first two months of 1971 over last year, while overseas visitors to Canada were at about the same level as in 1970.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

Cumulative statistics indicate that the number of United States residents who entered Canada by all modes of transportation decreased by 96,700 visits in 1971. This may have been partially attributable to the severe weather conditions experienced in Canada this year and also to the general slackness in the United States economy during 1971.

For the month of February 1971 automobile traffic which fell by 85,000 visits (6.3 per cent) from the same period in 1970, was mainly accounted for by less persons entering and leaving Canada on the same day. Non-automobile traffic decreased by 5,700 visits (2.6 per cent) from February 1970 due to a decrease in plane traffic (8.0 per cent), and other travellers (2.1 per cent). The largest decrease in total United States travellers to Canada occurred in the province of Ontario, which recorded a decline of 101,000 visits from February 1970.

The number of visits by residents of Canada returning from the United States totalled 3,722,000, a decrease of 4.6 per cent from the period January - February 1970. The decline in traffic returning was widely distributed through the provinces of New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, but was particularly pronounced in B.C.

The total number of Canadian residents who returned from trips to the United States in February 1971 amounted to 1,790,500, a decrease of 6.0 per cent from February 1970. Automobile traffic declined 102,400 (6.5 per cent) from February 1970 while non-automobile traffic decreased 12,800 (3.8 per cent). Plane traffic was the only mode of transportation which showed an increase for the month, up 10,600 visits from February 1970 due mainly to an increase in the number of Canadian residents returning from the United States and landing at Toronto International Airport.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Foreign travellers from overseas countries to Canada for the period January - February 1971 total 30,064 persons, while for the same period in 1970 the number totalled 30,242; a minor decline this year. The five leading countries in terms of the numbers of residents visiting Canada in 1971 were the United Kingdom (6,041), France (2,317), Germany (2,054), Japan (1,904) and Italy (1,308). The numbers of foreign travellers are essentially those persons remaining in Canada for a visit lasting longer than 24 hours.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas visits for the first two months of the year 1971 totalled 139,200, up 6.0 per cent from the same period last year. For the month of February 1971 traffic showed increases at Ottawa, Toronto and Vancouver International airports. Canadian residents returning from overseas countries by sea declined substantially from February 1970.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

The volume of international travel between the United States and Canada has declined in the first quarter of 1971. This reduction in traffic may partially result from the Easter holiday period which shall be celebrated during the month of April this year, while this same holiday period occurred during the month of March last year. Also the severe winter weather conditions experienced in Canada this year forced the closing of roads for extended periods of time, especially in the Province of Quebec. Finally the adjustment of the Canadian dollar on the foreign exchange markets to approach parity in terms of United States currency during the first quarter of 1971 may have altered travelling patterns to some extent.

The volume of international travel between Canada and overseas countries continued to increase in the first quarter of 1971. Canadian residents returning direct from overseas increased by 24,300 this quarter, up 12.1 per cent this year versus an increase of 49.1 per cent in 1970 over the first quarter 1969. Overseas visitors to Canada increased in January 1971, but declined in the months of February and March 1971.

Consequently preliminary estimates of travel expenditures between Canada and other countries (see Table 15) indicate that Canada reduced its deficit on travel account by $3 million. Foreign visitors spent an estimated $113 million in Canada in the first quarter of 1971, an increase of $4 million over 1970. Receipts from United States residents increased by $8 million to total $100 million, even though the number of United States residents visiting Canada in the first quarter of 1971 decreased from last year. Receipts from residents of overseas countries totalled $13 million, a decrease of 23.5 per cent from 1970 due mainly to less overseas visitors entering Canada in 1971. Canadians made payments of $213 million in the United States this year, a decrease of $4 million from 1970, and an estimated $101 million in overseas countries, an increase of $5 million over 1970.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

The number of Canadian residents returning from the United States has declined by 9.9 per cent from the period January-March 1970, to total 5,961,700 visits. The number of United States residents entering Canada totalled 4,780,300, a reduction of 5.9 per cent compared with statistics for the first quarter of 1970. All Canadian provinces shared in this decrease of traffic.

For the month of March 1971 residents of the United States entering Canada numbered 1,751,000 a decrease of 10.5 per cent from March 1970. United States residents using bus transportation to enter Canada increased by 22.4 per cent over March 1970 to total 54,900. Most other forms of transportation recorded declines in the number of persons entering Canada compared with the same period last year.

The number of Canadian residents returning from the United States in March 1971 totalled 2,239,700, a decrease of 474,400 persons (17.5 per cent) from March 1970. All forms of automobile traffic decreased in March 1971. Plane and bus traffic recorded increased volumes of traffic, up 6.3 and 3.3 per cent respectively for the month. All provinces in Canada recorded smaller numbers of Canadians returning from the United States in March 1971.

The total volume of vehicles crossing at the Canadian border in March numbered 1,571,300, a decrease of 12.7 per cent from March 1970. Both Canadian and American vehicles showed declines for the month.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Overseas visitors to Canada during the first quarter of 1971 numbered 50,100, a decrease of 5.5 per cent from the same period in 1970. Visiting residents of all continents of the world, except Asia shared in the decrease this quarter over last year. Europe accounted for 84.0 per cent of the decrease. REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Cumulative totals for the January-April 1971 period, show that close to 7 million United States visitors entered Canada. This total represents a decrease of 76 thousand (1.1 %), when compared to January-April 1970.

Canadian visitors returning from the United States in April 1971 show an increase of 10.9 % over last year. The increase this year is in part explained by the Easter holiday falling in April as opposed to March in 1970. However, cumulative totals, for the period January-April, show a 4.2 % decrease from the same interval last year. In absolute numbers this decline represents over 381 thousand re-entries. This decline in the first four months of the year was primarily due to a reduction in Canadian resident vehicles crossing the border, the consequence of adverse weather conditions, that prevailed at the time. This loss was especially evident in the month of March, when 93,000 fewer same-day Canadian vehicles returned to Canada, than for the same time period in 1970.

Aggregate totals for overseas residents visiting Canada for the January-April 1971 period, show a decrease of 6.8 % as compared to 1970 data. Statistics for Canadian residents returning from overseas show an increase of 7.4 % over last year.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

In April 1971, visitors entering Canada from the United States numbered 2,205,900. This total represents an increase of 11.4 % over the 1970 figure. Canadian residents returning from the United States numbered 2,755,300 persons, resulting in an increase of 10.9 % over last year.

During the month of April United States automobile traffic increased 208,000 (12.2 %). This increase was mainly the result of United States travellers staying in Canada two or more nights. This alone accounted for an increase of 101,900 (40.2 %) over the April 1970 total. Most significant in non-automobile traffic was bus travel. In April 1971 an increase of 19,900 (39.6 %) resulted when compared to April 1970.

The number of Canadian residents returning from the United States also increased considerably. April showed an increase of 271,700 (10.9 %) over last year. Of this total, automobile traffic, where the resident spent two or more nights in the United States, resulted in the biggest gain in both relative and absolute terms.

Canadian non-automobile traffic increased by 27,300 (7.0 %) as compared to April 1970. This increase was primarily the result of an increase in plane traffic (15.1 %), and bus traffic (33.1 %). A portion of this gain however, was offset by a 36.6 % decrease in boat traffic, which was basically the result of adverse weather conditions affecting port openings.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Overseas visitors to Canada for the period January-April 1971 numbered 77,260. This represents a decrease of 6.8 % when compared with 1970 statistics. Visiting residents from all regions, except Asia, shared in this decrease. The most pronounced decrease occurred in visitors from Europe, which alone accounted for 96 % of the total decrease.

When disaggregated it was found, that the greatest decreases occurred in visitors from the Azores, United Kingdom, The Netherlands, Greece and Italy in that order. Of the total visitors from Asia, 4,785 visitors from Japan were recorded. This resulted in an increase of 8.4 % over last year; and 34.8 % of that region's increase in cumulative totals for 1971.

The month of April accounted for 48.4 % of the decrease in overseas visitors to date in 1971. Province of entry data show the majority of overseas visitors entered Canada in either Ontario or Quebec. The two provinces accounted for 79.7 % of overseas visitors for April.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries numbered 296,300 for the period January-April 1971. This represented a 7.4 % increase above the same interval in 1970. In absolute numbers, Ontario and British Columbia accounted for the majority of this increase.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

During the first five months of 1971 cumulative statistics show that 10 million United States residents visited Canada, a slight increase from last year. Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States numbered 12 million, a decline of 4.1 per cent from January - May 1970. This aggregate decline of 504,900 Canadian re-entries from the United States results primarily from a decrease in same day automobile traffic, and is generally attributed to the adverse weather conditions which prevailed during the first quarter and into the second quarter. Statistics show that this decrease in Canadian same day automobile traffic was widespread across Canada.

Cumulative totals show that 126,300 overseas visitors entered Canada, a 4.7 per cent decrease from January - May 1970. January - May 1971 aggregative totals show that Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries numbered 359,600, a 7.8 per cent increase from last year.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

During May 1971, 3,098,000 United States residents entered Canada. This total represents an increase of 3.4 per cent over May of last year. Canadians returning from the United States for the same time interval numbered 3,014,000, a 3.9 per cent decrease.

The most pronounced changes in United States visitors to Canada, occurred in the non-automobile category. In May 1971, United States visitors by bus numbered 131,300, a 24.5 per cent increase from May 1970. Rail traffic recorded a decrease of 7,300 (63.6 per cent) entries.

Canadian rail and bus traffic to the United States followed a similar pattern. Bus traffic recorded an increase of 15.8 per cent, whereas rail traffic recorded a decrease of 6,400 (90.5 per cent) re-entries.

This apparent turnabout in the mode of transportation resulted from two factors. First, an administration change in the method of data collection occurred May 1, 1971. Passengers by train would be transported across the frontier by bus and then once again proceed by train. Previously this transition was recorded by customs officials as "train", while under the new system this pattern of traffic is being recorded as "bus" traffic. Secondly, a portion of the decrease in rail traffic is attributable to the lack of demand for rail services as is evident by the closing of train service through the ports of; Lacolle Que., Sarnia Ont., Emerson Man., and White Rock B.C.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Overseas Visitors entering Canada during May 1971 numbered 49,000, a slight decrease from last year. Province of entry data shows that of this total 40,000 (81.8 per cent) entered in either Ontario or Quebec. Visitors from the United Kingdom accounted for 28.9 per cent of the aggregate total.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries numbered 63,300, a 10.0 per cent increase from last year. As expected most Canadians from visits overseas re-entered through the province of Ontario (39.9 per cent) and Quebec (38.0 per cent).

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Preliminary estimates of travel expenditures for the first six months of 1971 indicate that Canada's deficit position on travel account with all countries remained relatively unchanged when compared to the first six months of last year. Foreign visitors spent an estimated $413 million in Canada for the first half year as compared to $406 million the previous year. The total expenditures by foreign visitors to Canada for the first six months this year comprise of $357 million spent by residents of the United States and $56 million by visitors from overseas countries. This total for the first half of 1971 represents a 1.7 per cent increase over the comparable period last year. Canadian payments abroad were estimated at $692 million and were comprised of $459 million in the United States and $233 million in overseas countries, a slight change from a year earlier. On an overall basis the above expenditure data shows a net deficit of $279 million for the first six months of this year as compared to $291 million for the first half of 1970, and represents a slight improvement in the travel account portion of the balance of payments.

Canadian payments to the United States for the first six months of this year decreased $10 million from last year, whereas revenues derived from United States expenditures in Canada increased $13 million, thus narrowing the deficit on travel account with the United States to $102 million from $125 million a year earlier. Payments by Canadians overseas increased $5 million from a year earlier, whereas receipts derived from overseas visitors spending in Canada decreased $6 million, thus further widening Canada's total deficit on travel by $11 million to $177 million.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

Cumulative statistics for the first six months of 1971 show that 14,153,500 United States visitors entered Canada, a slight decrease from last year. During the same time interval Canadians visiting the United States numbered 14,916,000, a 4.7 per cent decrease from a year earlier.

In June 1971, United States residents visiting Canada numbered 4,069,100, representing a 1.5 per cent decline when compared with June of last year, while Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States during June of this year totalled 3,184,500, a 6.8 per cent decrease.

The most pronounced change in United States visitors, occurred in the non-automobile category. In June 1971, visitors by rail numbered 5,800, down 65.7 per cent from June last year. Canadian rail traffic followed a similar pattern as a decrease of 5,800 (87.8 per cent) re-entries was recorded. This decrease in rail is primarily attributable to a deceleration in the demand for rail service as is evident by the ceasing of train service through various ports across Canada.

In June 1971 United States visitors to Canada by automobile numbered 3,405,000, a 1.7 per cent decrease from last year, which was approximately evenly distributed between short-term and long-term automobile traffic. Bus and boat traffic during the month of June recorded increases of 7.1 per cent and 14.7 per cent respectively.

During the month of June 1971, 2,761,800 Canadians returning from the United States re-entered by automobile, an 8.7 per cent decrease from June last year. The majority of this decrease was the result of a decline in same day traffic which recorded 222,400 (9.6 per cent) fewer re-entries, and accounted for 87.3 per cent of the aggregate automobile decrease for June of this year.

Province of re-entry data shows that the decrease in Canadian same day automobile re-entries was most pronounced in Quebec and British Columbia where decreases of 17.3 and 24.9 per cent were recorded from June of last year.

A portion of the decrease in short-term Canadian automobile traffic in British Columbia may be attributed to festivities surrounding that province's centennial this year.

In the Canadian non-automobile category bus traffic increased by 9,300 re-entries, 9.8 per cent over June of last year, whereas re-entries by plane and boat showed no significant change.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Overseas visitors entering Canada during the first six months of 1971 numbered 198,300, a slight decrease from the first six months a year earlier. Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries numbered 438,400 re-entries, an increase of 4 per cent as compared to the first six months last year.

Statistics for the month of June indicate that 72,000 overseas visitors entered Canada. Visitors from Europe accounted for 72.2 per cent of this aggregate total which includes 20,400 visitors for the United Kingdom. Province of entry data for June shows that the majority of overseas visitors entered in Ontario, Quebec, or British Columbia and accounted for 90 per cent of total entries. Further disaggregation shows that Montreal and Toronto airports recorded 42,600 (59.2 per cent) visitors in June 1971.

Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries in June 1971, numbered 78,800, a 10.5 per cent decrease from June last year. As expected, the majority of this total re-entered in either Ontario (31,250 re-entries) or Quebec (29,573 re-entries) and represented 77.2 per cent of aggregate re-entries.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Cumulative statistics for the first seven months of 1971 indicate that 21,256,400 United States residents entered Canada, an increase of 487,800 (2.3 per cent) entries over last year. Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States numbered 19,832,100, a decrease of 4.0 per cent from a year earlier.

Overseas visitors to Canada during the January - July 1971 period numbered 312,800, a slight increase from a year earlier. Canadian re-entries from overseas countries for the first seven months of this year numbered 556,700, an increase of 3.2 per cent from the previous year. The above statistics further reflect Canada's widening deficit in its travel account balance with overseas countries.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

During the month of July 7,102,900 United States residents entered Canada, a 8.0 per cent increase over last year. This increase entirely results from an increase in automobile traffic. Aggregate statistics for the month of July show that 528,400 (9.3 per cent) more United States visitors entered by automobile than in July last year.

Further disaggregation reveals that United States residents entering by automobile and remaining two or more nights in Canada numbered 2,430,000, a 13.7 per cent increase, whereas those entering and leaving same day numbered 3,225,000, a 7.4 per cent increase.

In the United States non-automobile category 5,200 (0.6 per cent) fewer entries were recorded in July this year than a year ago. This decline resulted from a decrease in plane, boat and rail traffic, though partially offset by a 14.0 per cent increase in bus traffic.

Province of entry data reveals that 75.7 per cent of total United States visitors to Canada entered in either Ontario or Quebec.

During the month of July 4,916,100 Canadian residents re-entered from visits to the United States, a 1.9 per cent decrease from July last year. The majority of those that re-entered travelled by automobile (90.0 per cent). Aggregate automobile statistics indicate that 68,600 (1.5 per cent) fewer Canadian residents re-entered in July this year than in July 1970. Short-term automobile traffic decreased 6.5 per cent, while long-term automobile traffic increased 8.3 per cent from July last year. Length of stay data reveals that 62.9 per cent of aggregate automobile visits to the United States were of a short-term duration.

Canadian residents re-entering by non-automobile transportation in July numbered 493,200, a 5.1 per cent decrease from the previous year. Disaggregation by type of transportation shows that the largest decrease occurred in the "Other travellers" category. This category which includes persons re-entering by local bus, taxi, motorcycles, commercial truck, etc. recorded 27,000 fewer re-entries in July than for the same month a year earlier. The most significant change in relative terms, an 87.5 per cent decline, occurred in the rail category. This decline primarily results from a decrease in the demand for rail service as is evident by the closure of such service through various ports across Canada.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Overseas visitors to Canada for the period January - July 1971 numbered 312,800, a 1.0 per cent increase from a year earlier, while Canadian residents returning direct from visits to overseas countries over the same interval numbered 556,700, a 3.2 per cent increase.

During the month of July 114,500 overseas visitors entered Canada, a 9.0 per cent increase above July last year. Disaggregation reveals that there were significant increases in the number of overseas visitors from the United Kingdom, Germany, the Netherlands, Japan and Trinidad and Tobago. Province of entry data shows that 77.7 per cent of overseas visitors to Canada entered in either Ontario or Quebec. The province of Ontario received 67.0 per cent of all United Kingdom visitors and 50.5 per cent of all visitors from Germany, while British Columbia recorded 54.8 per cent of all Japanese resident entries to Canada.

Canadian residents returning direct from visits to overseas countries in July 1971 numbered 118,300, a slight increase from the previous year. Following previous patterns, the majority of Canadians re-entered in Ontario (52.3 per cent) or Quebec (28.4 per cent). Port of re-entry data shows that the majority of Canadians re-entered at either Toronto or Montreal International Airport.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Cumulative statistics for the first eight months of 1971 reveal that 28.2 million United States visitors entered Canada, a 2.4 % increase from the first eight months last year. Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States numbered 24.6 million, a 4.3 % decrease from a year earlier. This decrease in the number of Canadian re-entries results entirely from a decline in same day automobile traffic. Translated directly in terms of receipts and payments this decrease can be misleading. Short-term traffic tends to generate less income than traffic of a long-term nature.

Overseas visitors to Canada during the January - August 1971 period totalled 393,700, a slight decrease from a year earlier, while Canadians returning direct from visits overseas over the same period numbered 730,300, a 4.0 % increase from the previous year.

On August 15th, 1971 the United States announced measures to alleviate its balance of payments problem. Although the impact of these measures on travel will not be known for some time, it is likely that travel patterns and expenditures will be altered somewhat. In addition to this the lack of agreement at the recent IATA meeting to ratify new air fare structures could have an effect on travel expenditures and patterns as well.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

In August 1971, 6.9 million United States visitors entered Canada, a 2.6 % increase from August last year. The largest increase in both relative and absolute terms occurred in the same day automobile category, as 131,500 (4.2 %) more United States visitors were recorded in August this year. United States long-term automobile traffic increased by 69,110 (3.3 %) entries from last year. In the non-automobile category decreases in the numbers of United States visitors by plane, rail and boat were recorded. These decreases were partly offset by an increase in bus traffic.

Province of entry data shows that the majority of United States visitors to Canada entered in Ontario or Quebec, and recorded 61.1 % and 14.9 % of aggregate entries respectively. This proportion was similar to that recorded in August 1970.

Aggregate statistics for August 1971 reveal that 4.7 million Canadian residents returned from the United States, a 5.5 % decrease from last year. This decrease is primarily attributable to the decline in the same day automobile category. Statistics show that 89.1 % of total re-entries in August were by automobile. In the non-automobile category, plane and bus traffic recorded increases; while decreases occurred in aggregate rail and boat traffic. Province of re-entry data shows that in August 32.9 % and 33.8 % of Canadians returning from the United States re-entered in Ontario and Quebec respectively.

A summary of non-resident vehicles entering Canada shows that 9.7 million entries were recorded during the first eight months of this year, a slight increase from last year. In August 1971, 2.2 million non-resident vehicles entered Canada, a 1.3 % increase from a year earlier.

Canadian vehicles returning to Canada from the United States during the period January - August 1971 numbered 8.9 million, a 3.7 % decrease from the previous year. Monthly data shows that 1.6 million re-entered during the month of August, a 5.1 % decrease from a year earlier.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Overseas visitors entering Canada during August 1971 totalled 80,200, a slight decrease from August last year. Country of residence data which is derived from the IMM 700 and aggregated by the Department of Immigration reveals that the six leading countries in terms of visitors to Canada during August were: United Kingdom, France, Germany, Japan, the Netherlands, and Italy in that order. An actual disaggregation shows that 67.2 % of total overseas visitors were from Europe; and that 43.9 % of total were from the United Kingdom. Province of entry data shows that 80.0 % of overseas visitors to Canada entered in either Quebec or Ontario with the latter accounting for a slightly higher proportion.

Canadian residents returning directly from visits to overseas in August 1971 numbered 173,500, a 6.8 % increase from August last year. Province of re-entry data shows that 82.0 % of returning residents re-entered in either Quebec or Ontario. As expected, the majority of Canadians re-entered by plane.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

Preliminary estimates of Canada's Travel Account in the Balance of International Payments for the period January - September, 1971 showed a reduction in the deficit over the same period last year of $53 million, leaving a deficit balance of $142 million. Receipts from tourism spending by United States residents totalled $978 million, accounting for 88.7 per cent of Canada's earnings from international travellers this year. Canadians continued to travel to overseas countries in increasing numbers, spending $468 million overseas, an increase of $20 million over the same period in 1970. Canadians spent $776 million in the United States so far this year ($792 million in 1970).

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

United States residents who entered Canada in September 1971 by automobile increased by approximately 145,000 persons over the same period in 1970, while those using other means of transport decreased marginally in relation to September 1970. Only persons who entered Canada by bus showed any significant increase, up 15,600 persons over last year. Most provinces recorded increased numbers of United States resident visitors in September; however Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan, and the Yukon Territory, all recorded minor declines in United States traffic.

The number of Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States in September declined by 145,000 from the same period in 1970, as Canadians using all forms of transportation recorded decreases, except bus transportation. The province of Ontario recorded a decrease of 94,000 returning residents, while British Columbia recorded 51,000 fewer returnees.

Travel between Canada and the United States for the nine month period of 1971 follows a similar pattern to the month of September. United States visitors to Canada were up by 805,000 (+ 2.6 %) over 1970 while Canadians returning from visits to the United States this year decreased by 1,251,000 (- 4.4 %) from 1970.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Residents of overseas countries visiting Canada in September declined by 2,262 persons from the same period last year. Most of the decline occurred in some of the major trading nations of the world - e.g. the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand.

So far this year, Canada attracted approximately the same number of overseas visitors as last year - that is, 448,000 persons. Visitors from the United Kingdom fell by 6.2 per cent from last year, while Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Israel and West Germany all recorded large increases.

The number of Canadian residents returning directly from overseas countries in 1971 was 864,000, an increase of 4.9 per cent above 1970. Toronto International Airport recorded the largest increase in the numbers returning for the month of September, up 18,700 residents.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

For the period January - October, 1971 visitors to Canada from all countries of the world increased by 3.2 per cent, resulting in an increase in total tourism receipts over last year for Canada.

Also for the same period, the number of Canadians travelling to other countries decreased from last year - down 3.9 per cent. This decline occurred as less Canadians travelled by automobile to the United States and returned the same day. This has resulted in a small decline in tourism expenditures by Canadians from last year. This is the first year since 1967 that Canada has recorded a decline in the number of residents returning from visits to other countries (in 1967 the World Exposition, held in Montreal, kept many Canadians from planning trips to other countries).

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

The number of United States visitors entering Canada in October totalled 2,751,832 an increase of 10.1 per cent from 1970. All modes of transportation used by these visitors recorded large increases, except rail transportation. The province of Ontario recorded the largest increase in absolute number of visitors for the month from the United States (up 186,206 persons), while the province of Manitoba obtained the largest percentage increase (up 17.6 per cent).

The number of Canadian residents returning from visits to the United States declined marginally in October, as the same day automobile traffic category accounted for 90.6 per cent of the decline. The number of Canadians now returning by rail from visits to the United States is extremely small, as most railway companies have discontinued international passenger service to Canada.

For the period January - October 1971 the number of United States visitors to Canada was 34,651,260, an improvement of 3.2 per cent from the same time period in 1970. United States residents who entered Canada by automobile and remained here for one or more nights showed the largest increase - up 645,262 visitors from 1970. Canadian visitors for the same period numbered 30,215,940 a decrease of 4.2 per cent from 1970.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Visitors from overseas countries to Canada in October 1971 increased by 8.3 per cent from the same period in 1970. Italy, the United Kingdom, and Japan all recorded increased visitors coming to Canada during the month of October.

Canada received 488,068 visitors from overseas countries, an increase of 3,228 visitors for the ten month period to date. West Germany accounted for 42,278 visitors, an increase of 11.2 per cent from last year. Japan and Poland also showed increases in the number of visitors to Canada, up 3,383 and 1,109 respectively.

The statistics on Canadians returning from visits to overseas countries in 1971 reveal a trend for more Canadians to take trips overseas. A record 945,245 Canadian residents returned direct from overseas visits so far this year. Most of these Canadians returned to Canada through Toronto and Montreal International airports.

REVIEW OF INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL

The number of United States visitors to Canada up to November 1971 has increased by 3.2 per cent over last year, down from the 4.2 per cent increase recorded between the period January - November 1970 and the previous year. Overseas travellers to Canada over 10 months of 1971 have not increased substantially, while the previous year visitors from overseas had increased 15.9 per cent from 1969.

Canadian residents continue to take trips overseas in increasing numbers, while travel to the United States has slowed, off 4.2 per cent from 1970.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

Visitors to Canada from the United States for the eleven months ended November 30, 1971 increased by 3.2 per cent above the previous year. Residents of the United States who entered Canada by automobile increased by 3.6 per cent over 1970, as persons entering and leaving Canada the same day increased by over 400,000. Plane, rail and boat traffic all decreased, with rail traffic showing the greatest decline - off 53.5 per cent from January to November 1970.

For the month of November, the number of United States residents entering Canada increased by 3.5 per cent, as all forms of transportation recorded increases except rail and boat traffic. At the same time Canadian residents returning from the United States declined by 86,000 persons from November 1970, with the majority of the decline attributed to automobile traffic.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Each month in 1971 has seen larger numbers of Canadian residents returning direct from overseas countries from the same period in 1970, except for the months of April and June. As a result the numbers of Canadian residents returning directly from visits overseas have increased by 8.1 per cent from January - November 1970.

Ottawa International Airport recorded substantial increases in Canadians returning direct from overseas each month throughout the year for a cumulative increase of 82.3 per cent. Toronto and Halifax International Airports showed significant increases of 24.4 and 18.8 per cent, respectively.

Overseas visitors to Canada for the period January - November 1971 numbered 512,600 persons, approximately the same number as last year. A disaggregation of the data indicates that the continents of Europe, North America, South America, and Oceania all recorded less visitors to our country in 1971. The continent of Asia recorded 63,157 visitors who came to Canada this year, as more persons came from Japan, Taiwan (Formosa) and Hong Kong.

PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES, 1971

Preliminary estimates for the year 1971, reveal that Canada recorded a deficit in its travel account with all countries. Estimates show that in 1971 Canada earned $1,296 million from international travel while at the same time spending $1,497 million abroad. These figures include transportation costs paid to Canadian carriers by non-residents visiting Canada, as well as fares paid to foreign carriers by residents of Canada.

United States resident spending in Canada was estimated at $1,147 million as compared to $1,082 million last year. Overseas visitor spending in Canada was recorded at $149 million, no significant change in relative terms from a year earlier.

Canadian resident spending in all countries totalled $1,497 million, an increase of 2.5 per cent from a year earlier. Of this total, Canadian residents spent $930 million in the United States, a slight decrease from last year. Canadian resident spending in overseas countries was recorded at $567 million, an 8.2 per cent increase from last year. An area disaggregation of expenditures shows that Canadians spent $173 million in the United Kingdom, other Sterling areas $72 million, other OECD Europe $244 million, and other countries $78 million.

Canada recorded an overall deficit of $201 million in its travel account balance with all countries. This compares to a $226 million deficit recorded last year. Canada which traditionally records a surplus in its travel account with the U.S. recorded a surplus of $217 million this year as compared to $146 million last year. In its travel account balance with overseas countries Canada recorded a deficit of $418 million, a 12.4 per cent increase from a year earlier. This year's deficit in Canada's overseas travel account is no exception as travel payments, especially since 1967 have been accelerating at a faster rate than receipts.

Reviewing Canada's receipts and payments on a proportional basis, in 1968 the United States accounted for 90 per cent of our receipts while the overseas countries accounted for the remainder. In 1971 this relationship did not change significantly, the proportions being 88 per cent and 12 per cent respectively. Total payments, however, have changed noticeably. In 1968, total payments to the United States accounted for 70 per cent of aggregate payments while overseas spending constituted the remainder. In 1971 these proportions had changed significantly to 62 per cent, and 38 per cent respectively. This latter proportion further revealing Canada's deteriorating travel balance with overseas countries.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES

In December 1971, 1,839,300 United States residents entered Canada, a 9.0 per cent increase from last year. This year's increase is primarily attributable to a 134,000 absolute increase in the automobile category and more specifically in same day entries where 92,000 more visitors were recorded.

In the non-automobile category United States visitors by plane and bus increased 15.1 per cent and 19.8 per cent respectively. Rail traffic continued to decline as only 2,300 rail entries were recorded during the month.

Cumulative statistics for the year 1971 reveal that 38,449,000 United States residents entered Canada, a 3.5 per cent increase from the previous year.

United States visitors by automobile increased by 1,223,000 this year and constituted 94.4 per cent of the years aggregate increase. Further disaggregation shows that 650,000 of this increase was attributable to United States visitors remaining two or more nights in Canada.

In the non-automobile category the most notable increase occurred in the bus category as 148,000 more visitors were recorded, a 13.9 per cent increase from last year. Rail traffic decreased absolutely by 76,000 (55.0 per cent) entries from last year. The aggregate changes in the bus and rail categories are the consequence of two factors. First, an administrative change in the method of data collection at the ports occurred in May 1971 and secondly, a closure of rail services through the ports of Lacolle, Quebec, Sarnia, Ontario, Emerson, Manitoba and White Rock, B.C. due to lack of demand for such service.

Disaggregation by province of entry reveals that the majority of United States visitors to Canada entered in Ontario, followed by Quebec, New Brunswick and British Columbia and accounting for 59.0, 14.6, 11.3 and 9.6 per cent of aggregate entries respectively. Ontario recorded the largest increase in absolute terms, 933,300 entries. British Columbia recorded 147,600 more visitors this year than last year. In both cases an added emphasis on travel to the respective province was stressed, especially in British Columbia where that province celebrated its centennial.

Canadian residents returning from the United States in December numbered 1,975,200, no significant change from last year. Residents returning by automobile and remaining one or more nights increased by 32,000 re-entries from the previous year. This increase, however, was offset by a decrease of 37,000 re-entries in short-term automobile traffic. In the non-automobile category the most notable change occurred in plane traffic as 12,500 more re-entries were recorded.

Aggregate statistics for 1971 show that 34,259,000 Canadians returned from visits to the United States, a 3.9 per cent decrease from last year. This deceleration in aggregate Canada re-entries from the United States results entirely from a decrease in same day automobile traffic to the United States. The decrease in this particular flow of traffic results partly from adverse weather conditions which prevailed during the earlier part of 1971.

Canadian residents returning by automobile accounted for 85.6 per cent of all re-entries, a proportion not significantly changed from last year.

In the non-automobile categories, plane recorded 67,000 (5.6 per cent) more re-entries this year, bus re-entries increased 7.6 per cent, whereas Canadian residents re-entering by rail decreased 68.3 per cent.

A provincial breakdown of returning residents reveals that 13,610,000 Canadians re-entered in Ontario, 8,122,000 in Quebec, 5,685,000 in New Brunswick and 4,959,000 in British Columbia and represent 39.7, 23.7, 16.6 and 14.5 per cent respectively.

Further examination reveals that in each of the mentioned provinces automobile accounted for approximately 90.0 per cent of total province re-entries, with the exception of Ontario which accounted for 80.0 per cent of that provinces aggregate re-entries.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADA AND OVERSEAS COUNTRIES

Cumulative statistics for 1971 show that 543,200 overseas residents visited Canada, a 1.4 per cent increase from the previous year.

An area breakdown shows that the United Kingdom accounted for 150,300 visitors, followed by Germany 45,800, France 37,200, The Netherlands 29,100 and Japan 25,900 in that order. These relationships are similar to those in 1970.

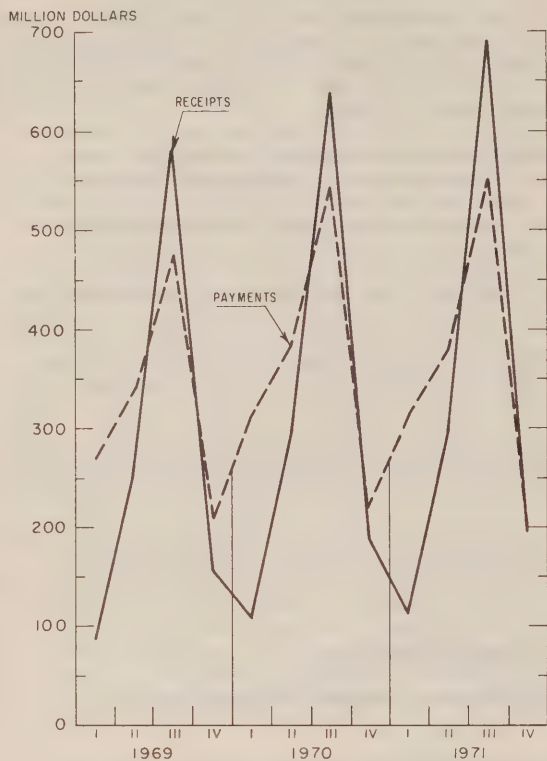

Increases were recorded in the number of overseas visitors from Germany, Japan, Taiwan, Poland and Hong Kong in that order. The most pronounced decrease occurred in overseas visitors from the United Kingdom as 7,500 fewer entries were recorded this year.

In general it appears that the lowering of currency restrictions and expansion of travel allowances by many countries have not significantly altered the pattern of overseas resident visits to Canada.

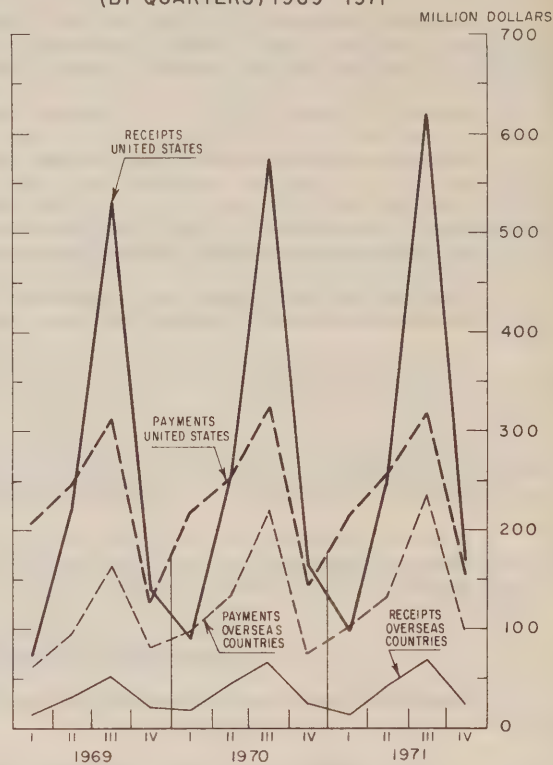

Canadian residents returning directly from visits to overseas countries numbered 1,039,200, an 8.5 per cent increase from last year. The largest number of returning residents re-entered in Ontario and accounted for 46.9 per cent of total re-entries followed by Quebec, 342,000 (32.9 per cent) re-entries. The majority of Canadians re-entered by air and accounted for 98.7 per cent of aggregate re-entries.

In summation, lower air passenger charter rates and attractive tour packages continue to lure Canadian residents overseas. As well, the expansion in Canadian resident travel overseas continued despite world currency re-alignments earlier in the summer.
